

SPAIN'S NEW CABINET

Sagasta Has a Hard Time
Getting Ministers.

CAMAZO'S ACCEPTANCE A SURPRISE.

New Ministry Considered Stronger Than the Old One—No Programme Yet Adopted—Cabinet Will Probably Be Short Lived.

LONDON, May 19.—The Madrid correspondent of The Times, commenting upon the surprise felt that Senor Camazo has been induced to enter the new cabinet, says:

"He consented on the condition that he should take only the portfolio of public works, which carries but a limited amount of official responsibility in great political questions. Senor Alfonso was already indicated by public opinion as the ablest man for the navy. Senor Sagasta had considerable trouble also to override the objections to entering the cabinet raised by Senor Leon y Castillo."

"Everything tends to confirm the opinion I expressed some days ago as to the real significance of the reorganization of the cabinet. For the moment all idea of seeking open negotiations with a view of terminating the war is abandoned. I venture to predict that it will not be revived until it is recognized by the public generally, and in military circles especially, that every thing has been done which the requirements of national honor demand.

"When that moment will arrive, it is impossible to foresee. All that can be said at present is that it will depend on the course of naval and military operations. Meanwhile it must be recognized that the cabinet has been strengthened by reconstruction, because it is now homogeneous, and with one exception that of Senor Moret, all the retiring ministers are succeeded by stronger men."

The accession of Senor Camazo will not only add to the administrative efficiency of the government, but will also fortify its parliamentary position. On the occasion of the king's birthday an enormous number of congratulatory telegrams was received at the palace, among them one from several members of the British parliament signed by Sir Howard Vincent."

The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"Senor Camazo was especially desirous of seeing Senor Leon y Castillo foreign minister, considering the important diplomatic matters likely to come promptly to the front. Senor Leon y Castillo enjoys excellent diplomatic relations with the other powers, and this would be advantageous in case opposition should be organized to any Anglo-Saxon alliance."

"It is considered that, in case of international complications, England would run the risk of a renewed attempt of Ireland to seek independence. The cabinet met last night and resolved on the proposal of Senor Camazo not to identify itself with or accept responsibility for the acts of the last ministry. No political programme has been formed by the cabinet, since circumstances do not permit it. The cabinet will undoubtedly be short lived. In all those acquainted with Spanish politics agree. With the exception of Senor Camazo it is not composed of eminent men, nor even of men of prestige and influence. Senor Camazo himself has taken care to remove the idea that by accepting office he takes responsibility for what the ministers who have just left office had done. This action of his cannot be agreeable to the ministers who have remained in office and who, whatever declarations they make, cannot repudiate their solidarity with those who have just resigned."

Besides that, though Senor Camazo is the most important member of the new cabinet, he has taken the most insignificant portfolio, public works, instruction, agriculture and commerce, the portfolio generally reserved for beginners. Everything seems to indicate that he has taken office only because he thought he ought not to refuse to help the Liberal party in the critical circumstances through which Spain is passing. But all the symptoms show that the new cabinet is simply an ad interim government patched up to await events and, if events are not satisfactory, to give way immediately to a more powerful government composed of elements which it would be unwise to waste."

BRITISH CAPTAIN'S STORY.

Mobbed in a Spanish Port For Carrying Sulphur to Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, May 19.—Captain Wood of the British steamship Elswick, which arrived here yesterday from Huelva, reports that he had an eventful experience in the Spanish port. He arrived there on April 22 to take on a cargo of 2,200 tons of sulphur for Baltimore. Public sentiment was running high against America and Americans, and he gave it out that his cargo was destined for Rotterdam. He had loaded 2,200 tons by April 27, when he thought discretion the better part of valor and weighed anchor.

"When they (the Spaniards) found out I was going to the United States," said Captain Wood, "they became wild with rage and refused to put another pound of cargo into the ship. A mob came down to the dock and began rioting. They were armed with sticks and stones as well as big knives. They expressed their hatred for Englishmen just as much as for Americans and declared they would destroy my ship and all aboard. I decided to get away as soon as possible."

"I gave orders to get ready for sea and visited the Venezuelan consul, who represents the United States government, to have my papers attested. "No sooner left the ship than a crowd began following me, hooting and jeering. I paid no attention and continued on up the street until I reached the Allison hotel, where the consulate is located. The fast increasing mob gathered outside the hotel, and when they discovered I was in conversation with the consul of Venezuela they stormed the place. The American flag which was in the consul's office was torn to ribbons and trodden upon in the streets, and the American coat of arms was shattered to atoms. The eagle was kicked in the mud and spat upon. The mob then went for me. They bombarded the hotel with stones and smashed every window in it. They threw a dozen or more huge stones at me, several of which just grazed my head. They then drew murderous looking knives and, declaring I was an American, tried to kill me."

"I slipped out of the back way and by making a detour reached my ship unmolested. As soon as I got aboard I heard the mob coming down the quay yelling like mad to renew the attack. I ordered the lines cast off, and as the mob was alongside we were soon out of their reach. We went out a little way and anchored, after which I got back ashore on the tugboat and secured my ship, and we sailed immediately."

"Soon after we left Gibraltar two small craft were sighted astern, and it did not take us long to make them out to be Spanish torpedo boats. They were evidently in pursuit of us, and for 30 miles they followed us, but when night came on we put on a full head of steam and ran for it out into the open sea. We kept going lively all that night, and when day dawned our pursuers were nowhere in sight."

FOURTEEN THOUSAND MEN AT CHICKAMAUGA.

CHICKAMAUGA NATIONAL PARK, Ga., May 19.—Two infantry regiments arrived yesterday and one battery, in all, 1,750 officers and men, making at 6 o'clock yesterday in camp at this point a volunteer army of 14,250. The First Pennsylvania infantry arrived at Chattanooga at 7 o'clock by the Cincinnati Southern. The regiment is composed of 10 companies, 749 officers and men. Lieutenant Colonel J. L. Good is in command. The entire regiment is from Philadelphia.

Battery A, St. Louis light artillery, Captain F. M. Rumbold commanding, arrived yesterday over the Memphis division of the Southern. They had no guns, but will be equipped with six 32-10 inch breech loading Hotchkiss rifles and 144 head of horses at the park. The men are all uniformed hands.

The Sixth Ohio infantry reached here at 9 o'clock last night, remaining in the cars.

EIGHTH PENNSYLVANIA OFF FOR WASHINGTON.

HARRISBURG, May 19.—The Eighth regiment of volunteers arrived here from Camp Hastings yesterday and was met by a crowd of over 5,000 people. Governor Hastings was present and gave the troops encouraging words. The regiment was shipped from the Pennsylvania to the Northern Central track and started for Washington. They will be the first troops to reach that city.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA'S REGIMENT.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The regiment of infantry which the District of Columbia will furnish to the volunteer army has been fully mustered. Brigadier General Harries reported the fact to the war department yesterday and received orders to proceed to Chickamauga. The regiment will go on Saturday by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which has been given the contract for the transportation.

BILLET FOR SENOR CASTILLO.

MADRID, May 19.—Senor Sagasta has telegraphed Senor Leon y Castillo, now at Paris, to come to Madrid immediately to take up the foreign office portfolio.

FINGER TIP PATTERNS.

It is said that the patterns on the finger-tips are not only unchangeable through life, but the chance of the finger-tips of two persons being alike less than one chance in 64,000,000,000.

IN THE CHURCHES.

In the Congo State there are 223 missions of 18 different societies—at 67 stations.

There are about 130,000 ministers of the Gospel in the United States, 180,000 churches and about 25,000,000 communists.

Of the 700 scholars who attend the five Points mission school in New York City, one-third are Jews or of Jewish extraction and one-third are Italians.

Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., says "that the secret of Mr. Moody's power is due to the fact that Mr. Moody unquestionably accepts the whole Bible as the word of God."

The ninth annual national convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist church will be held in Chicago July 13-20 in St. Paul's church, Prairie avenue and Thirtieth street.

The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, of New York city, was recently incorporated, the object of the society being to perform missionary work in the Catholic church. The trustees are Archbishop Corrigan, Bishop John Barley, Very Rev. Joseph F. Mooney and other noted Catholic divines.

James M. Davis, a wealthy Quaker of St. Louis, has purchased Garfield university and presented it with 300 lots, acre and near the campus to the Society of Friends, who will establish and maintain a national university. The building was erected through the efforts of Rev. W. B. Hendrick, at one time pastor of President Garfield at Mentor.

DENTISTS AND THE KLONDIKE.

GOLD SEEKERS WISELY HAVE THEIR TEETH ATTENDED TO BEFORE THEY START FOR ALASKA.

"Do you know," said a New York dentist, "that this rush to the Klondike has made a perceptible increase in our incomes? And it's all very natural, too. Those who intend to visit the newly discovered gold regions realize that the part of their bodies most likely to be affected if they manage to keep from freezing and starvation will be their teeth. Consequently they rush to us and have them thoroughly examined. The slightest imperfection is attended to. If the teeth are decayed to such an extent that they cannot be filled with gold, why, the prospective tourist promptly has them pulled out. No expense is spared, as they are all anxious to have their teeth in the best possible condition before undertaking the journey, so they can withstand any kind of climate. Now it's not hard to see how much the profession has benefited by this state of affairs. My case is only instance. Only this morning I had a party of six in here, and from the superficial examination made I estimate about $250 from the crowd."

The Naval Strategy Board at Washington has figured it out that the Spanish fleet will have to do one of three things,—go to Cuba, return east or start for Porto Rico. It’s a hundred to one shot that Cervera will do something entirely different. The Naval Strategy Board has made a good many guesses about the movements of the Spanish fleet and not one of them has been correct.

There has been a marked change in the temper of some of the leading Paris newspapers. They frankly say that France and the French people have gone too far in displaying hostility toward the United States and friendship for and sympathy with Spain and venture to express the hope that we will not lay it up against them. It isn’t that they love us more than they did, but they do love American money and the realization that Americans were giving Paris and its hostile people the go by has brought them to their senses.

It will take a long time to get some of the regiments assembled at Chickamauga in readiness for service. Some of them have no uniforms and others have no weapons. An Ohio cavalry regiment of 550 men arrived in camp with only an old-fashioned carbine for the entire command and without even a single horse. The regiments that have rifles are poorly supplied with ammunition. For some unexplained reason the arms and ammunition which the War Department was expected to furnish has not arrived. It looks as if it might be months before some of the troops are ready to take the field.

The large percentage of members of the National Guard rejected at Camps Black and Townsend emphasizes the necessity of stricter physical examinations before the enlistment of recruits. It is evident that in order to keep up their numerical strength, many of the companies and regiments have made a farce of physical examinations, and have taken, if not the half, the lame and the blind, those who were almost as dilapidated, and who were unfit for active service. The State has no use for that kind of soldiers, even in times of peace. Had it not been for the war spirit, which made it easy to fill up the ranks with new recruits, many of the organizations would have been such mere skeletons that it would have been farcical to muster them in. And even with ranks filled with new recruits, the effectiveness of the organizations is much impaired, for instead of drilled soldiers, some of the regiments that have been mustered in are little more effective than raw levies.

Gladstone was one of the few really great men among “the people now upon the earth.” He had a positive genius for affairs of state and his statecraft was of the constructive order. He had absolute faith in the capacity of the English people to govern themselves aright and the extensions of the suffrage, which he proposed and carried through, though they made Conservative England gasp with horror, all ultimately justified his wisdom and his forethought. He was so great that for years he absolutely dominated the Liberal party and when he withdrew from active political life the party that he had so often led to victory quickly went to pieces. But great as Gladstone was and supreme as was his influence he was not great enough to wrench from England home rule for Ireland. The proposition when made a part of the Liberal programme disrupted the party and sent some of its best and strongest men into the camp of the on-

emy. Like all really great leaders Gladstone was warmly loved by his followers and was most cordially hated by his enemies. Their fear of him and his influence led them to assail him most bitterly and to impute to him most unworthy motives but contemporary judgment was little influenced by these attacks and the judgment of posterity, free from partisan bias, will certainly give Gladstone a high place on England’s roll of fame.

“CHRIST, THE VICTOR.”

A Large Audience Listened to Fine Music, at Grace Church.

“Christ, the Victor,” which was sung at Grace Church, last night, proved to be a brilliant conclusion to the series of sacred cantatas which has been given in the church during the last year.

The chorus was the regular choir of thirty voices and did excellent work. Mrs. Harvey Wickham, Miss Julia Wickham and Harry Fisher, Z. K. Greene and H. L. Adams sustained the solo parts. There was also a mixed quartette composed of Mesdames Macardell, Jr., and Bertha Olney and George R. Wedgworth and Harvey DeWitt. The ladies quartette consisted of Mesdames Harvey Wickham, C. Macardell, Jr., Bertha Olney and Miss Mary Jones.

The performance was under the direction of Harvey Wickham. The festival services at Grace Church have become a notable feature in the musical life of Middletown and their excellence seems steadily on the ascendant.

Playing to Very Big Business.

Eugene Schutz, Chauncey Olcott’s popular manager, called at the Argus office, to-day. He stated that at least 500 people were turned away at Newburgh, having played to a $900 house. He was delighted with the advance sale for to-night, saying that it was larger than Mr. Olcott ever had here before. The company closes its season at Yonkers, where it will appear, to-morrow and Saturday nights.

Won’t Be Long Out of a Job.

ABOARD OUR SQUADRONS.

Behind the heavy armor there is a padding of either corn pith or coco husks.

Great Britain has 294 torpedoes and torpedo-boat destroyers; Uncle Sam has only eight.

Marines are the police on board ship. Originally they were employed to prevent mutiny among the sailors.

Those artists who show smoke in their pictures of naval battles are wholly wrong. Smokeless powder is used.

The fastest vessels in the navy are the torpedo boats Porter and Dupont, each of which can travel 27.5 knots an hour.

In a battle the woodwork and all articles of wood are either stowed below or thrown overboard lest the men be injured by splinters.

Sixty-one merchant vessels belong to the auxiliary navy. These ships are subsidized and by contract must be given to the United States on demand.

Barnacles form on the hull of a ship, impeding its speed. A six months’ cruise will decrease the speed of a ship 15 per cent., and it must go into dry dock.

Armor plates are tested by firing steel projectiles weighing from 100 to 1,500 pounds at them from guns charged with 500 pounds of powder and at a distance of about a city block.

The powder used is brown and in chunks the size of a caramel. A charge for the biggest guns weighs 500 pounds and is hoisted to the breech by a derrick, the powder being sewed up in bullet bags.

Our present effective fighting force consists of four battleships of the first class, one battleship of the second class, two armored cruisers, 18 cruisers, 15 gunboats, six double-turreted monitors, one ram, one dynamite gunboat, one dispatch boat, one transport and eight torpedo boats.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, May 19.—Refugees who arrived here, to-day, from Santiago de Cuba on board the steamer Adula say the insurgents' district commanders in Eastern Cuba are moving nearer and nearer to Santiago de Cuba.

It appears that Brigadier General Minoz, by order of General Galixio, has brought the insurgent forces from the extreme east to the neighborhood of Cumanaro on the south coast, and Brigadier General Castillo, of the insurgent army, has shifted his command to within twenty-five miles of Santiago de Cuba.

OFF FOR CAMP BLACK.

Changes in the Order. Made it Impossible to Give the Second Statement of Volunteers a Send Off—Hurried Away on the Middletown Way Train, This Morning—The Roll of Honor.

Owing to frequent and apparently unnecessary changes made Wednesday, in the orders fixing the time for the departure of the fourteen volunteers for Camp Black, only a few people saw the boys leave on the Middletown Way train, at 6:34, this morning.

It was first announced that they would go on train 12, then on the Orange County, and after the latter had been bulletined all the evening the order was changed to send the men down on the way train, the orders saying that they must be in camp by noon.

The fourteen who were selected were: C. H. Peckard, W. J. Regan, Ernest Owen, Clark Lorne, Thomas Meany, A. D. Seaman, Dr. J. E. Leemon, Harry Wagner, L. L. Bost, Harry E. Malone, Frasier Babcock, E. A. Coddington, J. A. Coweuse, George Rockwell.

Harvey E. Malone, who enlisted on the same date that his father, Capt. E. A. Malone, did, and thirty-seven years later, was placed in charge of the men.

The new men were about town in their uniforms, all day Wednesday, receiving the congratulations of enthusiasts, and late Wednesday night the white-striped trousers were seen beside swishing skirts promenading the streets.

There was a large number of people at the Orange County, this morning, prepared to send the boys off with enthusiasm, only to learn that they had been sent away on the earlier train.

OBITUARY.

CLEM ANDERSON.

Clem Anderson, the well known Erie Railroad man, died at Port Jervis, this morning. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, at 2:30.

Clem Anderson was one of the best known characters along the line of the Erie. He was an inveterate attendant on funerals, and he always carried a floral token. A simple acquaintance became deeply mourned at death. He took in all the fire parades in this and adjoining counties. He was formerly a member of Delaware Hose Company, of Port Jervis, and never lost interest in firemen's affairs.

He was employed on the milk train for a long time, going out to Bullville in charge of a car on his run. He was unmarried.

ONLY FIVE WALDENITES ACCEPTED.

Of the fifteen men from Walden who went to Port Jervis, Wednesday, to join the Port Jervis volunteers, only five were accepted by Capt. Benham. The others were rejected by the examining surgeon, or were refused enlistment because they were married, for married men are not wanted in the regular army.

GLADSTONE IS DEAD.

England's Great Statesman
Passed Away This Morning.

SKETCH OF THE EX-PREMIER'S LIFE.

His Rise In English Politics and His Place in the World's History—For Months He Had Been Patient
ly Waiting for Death.

HAWARDEN, England, May 19.—Mr.
Gladstone died at 5 o'clock this morning.

Death came very peacefully. All the members of his immediate family were at the bedside.

Mr. Gladstone was very weak all day yesterday, and much of the time he was in a comatose state, but his extraordinary constitution made his physicians hesitate to fix the time when he would finally succumb. One of them, Dr.
Dobie, said last evening:

"Mr. Gladstone may expire at any moment, though he may live another 24 hours. Any attempts to administer food seem to bore him. His attendants keep his lips moist with spirits and water at intervals. He will probably die peacefully during slumber."

"Mr. Gladstone's strength has been sustained in a great measure by his extraordinary constitution. Most of his internal organs are perfectly healthy."

It was said at midnight that Mr.
Gladstone had been much the same all the arduous nature of his daily toil, the results of bilious attacks of indigestion are likely to be even more serious and speedy than in the case of men who lead sedentary lives. The harder a man works, whether at the anvil, the bench or plow handle, the more important is the necessity for a careful watchfulness over health.

When a hardworking man finds that his liver is torpid or his digestion bad, he can have himself much discomfort, and possibly a serious sickness, by resorting at once to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The man who does this will always go to his work and come from it, whistling.

A good wife or mother can be of great aid in this respect. Hard working men are prone to disregard little disorders and let them run on. The good wife should see to it that there is always a bottle of "Golden Medical Discovery" in the house, and that it is used when needed. An honest dealer won't advise a substitute.

"About four years ago I was greatly afflicted with torpid liver," writes Miss Nellie Doyle of Folsom, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y. "A half dozen bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery made me a new woman. I truly believe your remedy saved my life. I am having good health, and can do all my own housework."

For a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser send 21
one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth binding,
10 cents extra.

Miss Rachel A. Jones, of Thomasville, Rankin
Co., Miss., writes: "Your wonderful 'Medical Adviser' is worth more than its weight in gold.
I do not see how you can give such a volume away. I have been offered $2.00 for it, but I would not part with it for five dollars."

My Uncle Sam.
My Uncle Sam's no bruiser,
He doesn't like to fight,
And wants to do by others
The thing that's fair and right.
Unless you try to crowd him,
He's meek as any lamb,
But when he gets his dander up,
Look out for Uncle Sam.

If you don't like my uncle,
He doesn't take offense,
But goes about his business
Like any man of sense
As long as you are civil,
He's quiet as a clam,
But when he gets his dander up,
Look out for Uncle Sam.

My Uncle Sam lives plainly.
And doesn't cut a swell.
He takes care of his children
And keeps them looking well
"To go," says he, "for solids,
A simple man I am,"
But when he gets his dander up,
Look out for Uncle Sam.

Just treat my uncle squarely
And he'll be square with you.
Whatever he has promised
He'll strive his best to do.
Until you try to crowd him,
He's meek as any lamb:
But when he gets his dander up,
Look out for Uncle Sam.

God's Language.

When it's early in the mornin' afore th' fishes is up,
When th' dew is on the daisy an' th' golden butter-cup;
When in' spring's got to'd summer, an' th' streams is low an' clear,
Ar' th' trout's a-jumpin' lively, an' th' birds a-fittin' near;
When th' robin's struntin' graceful like, an' full o' life an' vim,
An' a-gittin' 'twixt his struttin' timer his early mornin' hymn;
When th' bluebirds come by dozens, an' th' widow lark's distressed,
An' makes a dreadful flutter of I git too near her nest;
When in' circle goes by me like a little streak o' gold,
An' th' lovely scarlet tanager sings tunes that won't grow old;

When in' chipmunk-gimme ter chatter, 's all he had uncommon sense,
An' th' red squirrel gives out dumb signs at the site upon th' fence;
When in' roystern' little bobolink cries: "Sweet, sweet, sweet,"
An' th' plaintive little phoebe pipes her note an' flies so fleet;
In th' early mornin' I'm as gentle as a dove,
For I'm a-singin' ter God's language, an' it truly tells o' love.
—G. L. Dickinson, in Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The Band Plays "Dixie" Now.
I like to see "Old Glory,"
A-wavin' full an' free;
An' all it is, is a story
Of signs an' tears to me;
It's singin' the country's banner—
I loves it, anyhow!
So c'ar the way, Susanna—
The ban' plays "Dixie" now!

I like ter see it flutter
Up-thar-on top the roof,
An' hear the ol' boys mutter:
"You bet she's bullet-proof!"
It's all the country's banner,
In peace, or in the row;
So c'ar the way, Susanna—
The ban' plays "Dixie" now!

So, let 'em wave "Old Glory,"
From all the steeples high;
An' tell the stars her story,
With her red striped sweep the sky;
It's still the country's banner—
I loves it, anyhow!
So c'ar the way, Susanna—
The ban' plays "Dixie" now!

The Spring Is Here.

I feel the kindness of the lengthening days—
I warn me at the strong fire of the sun—I know the year's glad course is well begun—

Ah, what awaits me in its devious ways? What strange, new bliss shall thrill me with amaze?
What prize shall I rejoice that I have won?

I feel a kindness of the lengthening days—I warn me at the strong fire of the sun—

Yet I behold the phantom that dismays—The face of grief that spares not anyone—

Rewards come not until the task is done, And there are minor chords in all earth's lays—

Nay! Trust the kindness of the lengthening days—I'll warn me at the strong fires of the sun—

—Louise Chandler Moulton, in N. Y. Independent.

The Morning After the Storm.

All right has the ocean hurled His arms upon the beach,
With the white war flags unfurled And the sea-wind's battle-screach;

All right to the seething fray Did the raging billows swarm,

But pure is the peace to-day—
The morning after the storm.

For the dancing waves of blue Are dappled with silver white; The spray, as the sun shines through, Is faileid with rainbow light.

The breeze bows out from the land Soft and scented and warm,

And Eden is close at hand—

The morning after the storm.

Ah, dearest, the gale's wild wreck Made sweater the calm that came.

The night with its cloak of black Made dearer the sunbeam's flame;

And when, in our lives, the skies Grow dark, and the tempests form,

Still brighter the sun will rise.

The morning after the storm—

—Joe Lincoln, in L. A. W. Bulletin.

My Neighbor.

I have a new neighbor just over the way. She was moving in on the first of May. When she took in her household goods I saw

They were nothing but rubbish and sticks and straw;

But when I made her a call just now I found she had furnished her house somehow.

All trim and tidy and nice and neat, The prettiest cottage in all the street.

Of that old silk was her carpet fine,

A thousand times better and softer than mine.

Her curtains, to shut out the heat and light,

Were woven of blossoms pink and white,

And the dainty roof of her tiny home Was a broad green leaf like an emerald dome.

Tis the coziest nook that you ever did see, Mrs. Yellowbird's house in the apple-tree.

—Persia Gardiner, in Youth's Companion

Over Morro Castle.

There's a flag afloat to-day,

Over Morro castle,

That hasn't long to stay!

Over Morro castle!

Keep a lookout for the flash,

There's going to be a smash,

Something hot's about to crash

Into Morro castle.

There are remnants of the Maine Down near Morro castle;

We will pick a bone with Spain Down by Morro castle!

When we end this affair,

When the smoke clears from the air,

You may see Old Glory there,

Over Morro castle.
